DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shastri et al ('928).

Shastri discloses in Fig. 2 an optical output control circuit of a semiconductor laser comprising the semiconductor laser 14 for supplying a modulating electric current 50 and a bias electric current 48 thereto, modulating electric current supplying means for supplying said modulating electric current on the basis of an inputted modulating signal, and bias electric current supplying means for supplying said bias electric current (20, 38, 40, 44) wherein first temperature correcting means (20, 38, 40, 44, 64) for increasing said modulating electric current with a rise in ambient temperature is arranged in said modulating electric current supplying means, and a second temperature correcting circuit (20, 38, 40, 44, 62) for increasing said bias electric current with said rise in ambient temperature is arranged in said bias electric current supplying means.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shastri et al. ('928) in view of Tsunekawa ('924). Shastri discloses the claimed invention except for explicitly teaches a feedback circuitry negatively fed back by said bias electric current and being arranged in said bias current supplying means. Tsunekawa discloses a laser diode driver circuit in Fig. 2-3 with a feedback circuit 11 and 12 which is negatively fed back by said bias current (negative input terminal of the OP1). For the improvement of the output control circuit of the laser, it would have been obvious to the one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a feedback circuit as taught by Tsunekawa to Shastri in order to obtain a quick feedback without any delay.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Citation of Pertinent References

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The patent to Shastri et al. discloses Laser Driver with Temperature Sensor on an Integrated Circuit, U.S. Patent No. 5844928

The patent to Tsunekawa discloses Driver System for a Semiconductor Laser, U.S. Patent No. 4639924
